

2008 NGH CONVENTION BLOG

SUMMARY

www.nghconvention2008.com

National Guild of Hypnotists.

Use Your Personal Learning Goals Form to Get the Most Out of the NGH Convention

The National Guild of Hypnotists, Inc. is proud that during the past twenty years we have provided publications, seminars, and workshops which appeal to a wide range of professionals. In addition to those members who are the backbone of our own profession, certified hypnotists, our membership now includes licensed health professionals from most of the major disciplines.

Many physicians, dentists, chiropractors, osteopaths, nurses, psychologists, psychiatrists, and other professionals who have become aware of the efficacy of hypnotism have found that the Guild provides a wonderful resource for them to tap into for more information and continuing education, and we are happy to see that they are becoming regulars at our continuing education events.

Therefore, the program that we provide at our annual convention and educational conference has to adequately meet the needs of our profession, but also those with advanced degrees in other fields as well.

Each year, as you read through the seminar/workshop titles and descriptions, you will find topics that are more appropriate for use by licensed health professionals or those with advanced degrees. Does this mean that you cannot or should not attend?

Absolutely not—because in the future you might be called on to lend your expertise to cases which require the attention of a licensed health professional who does not have your hypnotic knowledge or skill.

Here is the link to the Personal Learning Goals Form that will help you plan your time at the NGH Convention: 2008nghlearninggoals

On the form you will find these simple directions:

First, review the session topics and titles in the NGH Catalog.

Next, fill in the appropriate session numbers under each of the columns. You have 7 time slots you can fill with informative, educational, and career-building information. That's: (1) Friday morning; (2) Friday afternoon; and (3) Friday evening. (4) Saturday morning; and (5) Saturday afternoon. (6) Sunday morning; and (7) Sunday afternoon.

On the left-hand side of the form you will find these categories:

- Sessions that could help my personal career development
- Subject areas I need to know about immediately
- Subject areas I would like to know more about for the future
- Particular presenters I would like to hear
- Other

Now, decide which of these best matches your personal learning goals.

Once you have your agenda for attending the NGH 2008 Convention, simply fill in the appropriate information on the Convention Registration Form. After you've made your final session selections, list each session on a separate sheet of paper. Write your specific objectives/goals for attendance. And then, make a list of questions you'd like to have the presenter answer or discuss with other attendees.

And last but not least: be sure to pack these notes and bring them with you to the Convention.

Seven simple steps to help you get the absolute, custom-tailored most from the 2008 NGH Convention.

	Learn to adapt and contribute to the ever-changing hypnotism profession.
	Evolve with the latest technologies for the management of your practice.
	Acquire a wide range of expertise through 110 workshops and 181 seminars.
	Reap the benefits of how-to workshops, case studies, business and marketing strategies seminars, contemporary issues, and research updates.
	Network to gain new insights, techniques, and practical applications in hypnotism.